

I would like to state for the record that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen my current Indiana Telephone Privacy law protections. Since signing up for this list I have been able to enjoy my evening with my family knowing that any telephone interuption will only be from friends or family. I can now enjoy dinner with the wife and kids minus unwanted phone interuptions from annoying telemarketers everynight. Where I used to count on anywhere from 20 to 30 calls a week I now receive maybe one, and only have to inform them I am on the list to know I will not hear from them again. Any change that would lessen this protection would be totally unacceptable to me and my family!
